

What: Join us for the fundraising party for the seventh annual Bosnian-Herzegovinian Film Festival (BHFF™).

When: Thursday, April 8, at 7 p.m.

Where: Marshall Restaurant and Lounge
35-03 Broadway between 35th and 36th Street
Astoria, NY 11106

Nearest Transit:
Steinway (R, V)
Broadway (N, W)

Why: Come meet other film enthusiasts from New York City; enjoy complimentary appetizers highlighting ex-Yugoslavian cuisine; listen to great live music and support the festival at the same time!

Cover charge is $10 - all proceeds will go to this year's BHFF. Although BHFF is a project of two not-for-profit organizations, the Voice of Bosnia and Herzegovina and the Academy of Bosnia and Herzegovina, BHFF is a financially independent project. Its success and survival lie in the efforts of its team of volunteers and contributions of other supporters and film lovers.

BHFF is an annual event, which will take place May 14 and 15 at Tribeca Cinemas in New York City. It provides a platform for the exposure of Bosnian-Herzegovinian filmmakers. It also features films that focus on the theme of Bosnia and Herzegovina in general, thus contributing to a greater understanding of its diverse culture, complex history and challenges it faces.

WWW: For more information, visit <http://www.bhffnyc.org> and <http://www.marshallnyc.com>. If you cannot make it to the party, you can still help out by donating via Facebook, Paypal or via check - additional details are available at <http://www.bhffnyc.org/html/sponsors.htm>.

